

Washington Arch was the starting point, as usual, for the great "Win the War" parade on April 26 to help the Liberty Loan. Thirty thousand persons marched in all and a huge crowd watched them. Here soldiers are seen passing through the arch on the way up Fifth avenue.

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Another view of Fifth avenue showing a small section of the long line of marchers passing the Public Library.

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

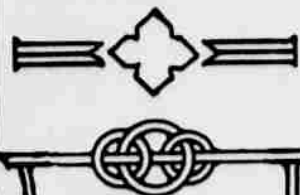

War Council on March 22, second day of German drive. Left to right, Field Marshal Haig, Premier Clemenceau, Senator Renault of France, Gen. Rawlinson, Gen. Foch and Gen. Mordaig.

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Coins and bills were showered from office windows into the big flags carried in the parade. This shows the gathering of the harvest.

Photo by Edwin Levick.

At right, a view of the main street of Hemet, Cal., a few hours after the recent earthquake.

Photo by Central News.

At left, launching the steamship Accom at a Jersey shipyard. The keel for another vessel being lowered into place.

Photo by Central News.

